VICTOR WILLIAMS DIED YESTERDAY

Victor V. Williams died yesterday morning at 8:30 at the home of his father, Sheriff C. F. Williams, on Reems Creek, about two miles from Weaverville. The funeral services will be held this afternoon at 3 o'clock from the late residence.

Mr. Williams was twenty-eight years old and had been in bad health for two years. During the last few months no hope was entertained for his recovery.

Mr. Williams was born in Big Ivy township, but lived most of his life in Weaverville, where he was reared. He graduated from Weaverville and went from there to the University of North Carolina where he received his diploma in 1907. After his graduation he went to South Carolina to begin his chosen life of scientific farming and seed selection. His health failed and he returned to Asheville, where he worked for some time on The Citizen. He was a clever reporter and was well liked by all with whom he came in contact.

His health, not improving as rapidly as he had hoped, he went to El Paso, Tex. The change failed to help him and he returned to his home at Weaverville, when his people realized that his recovery was improbable.

Miss Roscoe, a young lady whom he met in Texas, came to Weaverville shortly afterward, and the two were married, the young lady desired to nurse him through his last illness.

Mr. Williams is survived by his parents, the widow and two sisters, Mrs. Montreville Weaver, of Flat Creek, and Miss Mary Williams.

Mr. Williams was unusually popular and he had hosts of friends who inquired about him daily and watched his gradual decline with great sadness.

LIKE ROMANS OF OLDEN TIMES

ALBANY, Ore., Oct. 24.—Governor Marshall, of Indiana, in a speech here today asserted that the political parties which attempted to use the method of ancient Roman leaders in handling the American people surely would bring disaster upon the government of the United States.

"Bread and circuses were the two things that the Roman leaders used to keep the people in line," said Marshall, "and today in this supposedly advanced political age we find two of the big political parties in this country using the same old bread and circuses in their efforts to get control of you people."

Governor Marshall said that over capitalized political leaders were becoming as great a menace to the welfare of the country as over capitalized corporations.

VERA CRUZ PORT OPEN TO COMMERCE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24.—Captain Hughes of the cruiser Des Moines, reporting that the Mexican port of Vera Cruz had again been opened to commerce today, asked the navy department for information as to the probable movement of his vessel. Although this is taken by the department to indicate that complete order is restored in Vera Cruz, the Des Moines will be kept there for some days yet.

Captain Hughes said no property was destroyed and no damage done in the re-taking of the city by the federal forces. Mexican and rebel soldiers protected American property. He reported that the cruiser Tacoma, which left Bluefields, Nicaragua, several days ago, whould reach Tampico tomorrow.

SUN PARLOR WILL BE BUILT AT LANGREN

Portion of the Roof Garden Will be Enclosed With Glass.—Other Improvements Contemplated.

A contract has been let by the management of the Langren hotel for enclosing the southern end of the roof garden in glass, in order that a sun parlor may be provided on the top of the building for the convenience of the winter guests of the hostelry. The corridor which leads from the ball room to the roof garden and the walkway from the elevator shaft to the out-of-doors on the top of the building will be covered entirely with panes and the parlor will be handsomely furnished for the convenience of the guests.

When completed the parlor will be one of the most attractive in the south and the management, in constructing it, will follow the plans of some of the larger resort hotels of the north. The new arrangement will make it possible for the visitors at the Langren to spend as much time as they like on the roof garden regardless of the temperature. Radiators will be placed in the sun parlor and will be fitted with all modern conveniences.

In the middle of the roof garden will be constructed a large fountain, surrounded by a pond, in which fish will be kept. The fountain will be very handsome and will be arranged in such a manner that it can be banked with palms and other plants upon which the water will fall. It is the intention of the management to install soda fountains on the roof later in the season and when all of the work is completed the gardens will present a very handsome appearance.

The work of constructing the sun parlor will be started immediately and the furnishings for it have already been ordered. They will reach Asheville in time to be placed after the work of installing the glass is completed.

BERLIN WIVES IN MEAT RIOT.

BERLIN, Oct. 24.—Hundreds of Berlin housewives joined in a riot today because the butchers in the municipal markets refused to handle meat imported so as to reduce the cost of living.

The principal trouble occurred in the wedding district, which is entirely inhabited by working people. Hundreds of women, who went to the municipal market hoping to profit by reduced prices, found that the butchers had agreed not to deal in meats imported by the municipality. They then stormed the butchers' stalls, seized all the native raised meat, trampled it on the ground and fought with the butchers. The police were forced to close the market to stop the riot.

The prices of meats are so high in Berlin that the government recent gave permission to the city authorities to bring in and sell meats from abroad at their city markets and to control the prices. The butchers at first agreed to handle these meats but late last night announced they had decided on a general boycott of them in the twelve municipal markets of Berlin.

FOUND GUILTY OF AN ATTEMPT TO ASSAULT

Negro Found Guilty on What is Said to be His Fourth Crime of This Nature.—Other Cases.

Claude Black was yesterday found guilty of an attempt of criminal assault on Lula McAfee. This is the fourth time that this negro has been charged with the same offense. The sentence which Judge Howard A. Foushee will pass upon him this morning will assure his good behavior for some time to come. This is the first of the more serious offenses to come to trial. The jury was less than five minutes in deciding against the prisoner.

Lula McAfee, a colored woman living apart from her husband, told the jury that she looking for a man by the name of Ely the night the alleged assault occurred. Claude told her he knew where Ely was and led her into a dark corner of Atkins street. There, the witness stated, the two struggled for nearly two hours and a half and she broke away from the man and fled up South Main street, the negro following her.

Her testimony was contradicted by Patrolman Bradley, who stated that the two could not have been together more than an hour. In his argument to the jury on Black's behalf, G. Spears Reynolds made the most of the woman's statement about the time pointed to the fact that her dress was little injured, and declared that the character of the woman was shown by the fact that she was searching for another man than her husband that night.

Black is said to have been run out of Greenville, S. C., for two simlar offenses. He was recently bound to the superior court for assault on Louise Boyd, but because of the woman's bad reputation the jury failed to find a true bill against him.

Twenty-eight cases have been tried by Solicitor Robert R. Reynolds before Judge Foushee so far this term, and only one verdict of acquittal has been returned by the grand jury. Becky Jane Ladshaw was found not guilty of retailing in a case appealed from the police court.

A committee from the grand jury visited the county home yesterday morning.

Pless Green was sentenced to four months on the county roads for larceny and receiving.

Capiasses were issued for Milton Hensley and Nick Brownlee, who were called and failed, and each of them was declared to have forfeited $40 to the state.

Clarence Woods drew five months on the county roads for larceny.

Charles Sneed was found guilty of retailing and entered a plea of nolo contenders on a charge of rocking a house.

A DOLLAR A YEAR

Is All Mrs. Campbell Needs to Keep in Good Health Now, According to Her Own Statement

Moro, Ark.—In a letter from this place, Mrs. Anna Campbell says: "Seven years ago I was in a critical condition—was so weak that I could not get out of bed for four weeks. I was advised to try Cardui, the woman's tonic, and I bought a bottle.

Before I had taken two-thirds of it, I was not only able to be up, but could do my work.

At times, now, I have headache, backache, and weak trembling spells, but it doesn't take but three or four doses of Cardui to straighten me out, ready for work.

I have been using Cardui for 14 years, but it only takes one bottle a year for me now, but I don't take any other kind of medicine.

I am also giving it to my daughter, and it is doing her all the good in the world.

I would not be without Cardui in my home."

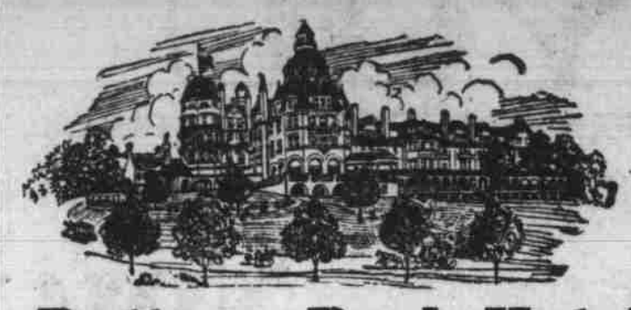

This letter, picked at random from our file of many similar ones, should certainly convince you that Cardui is, at least, entitled to a fair trial, if you suffer from any of the ailments so common to women, or merely need a tonic for that tired, nervous, worn-out feeling.

Cardui has been helping weak women for over half a century. It will help you too.

Try Cardui.
